Harrison Township Fire Department was dispatched to the scene and was able to hold the fire under control. The fire apparently started around a gas cook stove. Nobody was home at the time of the fire. Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Warren Straley investigated the incident.

Fierce Viet Fighting Explodes

SAIGON (AP) — Large North Vietnamese forces spearheaded by tanks and heavy artillery launched a dozen attacks across a wide area of the lower central highlands today. They captured parts of a district town and threatened a provincial capital, field reports said.

Government military spokesmen said that the attacks triggered major fighting and possibly were the prelude to a general offensive South Vietnamese officials have been forecasting for early next year.

Military sources said the North Vietnamese launched 11 separate attacks along a 28-mile front from Dak Song southward to the district town of Kien Duc near the Cambodian border and 90 miles northeast of Saigon.

Government spokesmen claimed a half dozen tanks were destroyed.

First reports said 45 North Vietnamese troops had been killed in the fighting, but there was no report available on the government losses.

Hand-to-hand fighting was reported in Kien Duc, a town of 3,000 population, and field reports said North Vietnamese sappers had seized the national police headquarters in Kien Duc and two other points in the town, which was in danger of falling.

The field reports said that 1,000 civilians, some of them refugees from earlier fighting in the region, had fled from Kien Duc eastward through the jungles to Gia Nghia, 12 miles away. The strategic Highway 14 between Kien Duc and Gia Nghia was reported open but "dangerous."

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, Saigon's chief military spokesman, said it was the first time the Communists have attacked a district capital since the ceasefire on Jan. 28.

Hien said North Vietnamese activity in the region near the Cambodian border "has created a very serious situation throughout that part of the country."

The North Vietnamese want to take Kien Duc, on Highway 14, so they can move on to Gia Nghia, the capital of Quang Duc province 12 miles to the east," Hien said.

"We urgently requested the International Commission of Control and Supervision to do their job to stop Communist violations of the ceasefire, especially in Quang Duc," Hien said.

Since Nov. 1, the North Vietnamese have been attacking government positions along Highway 14 to complete the 400-mile supply road they are trying to establish from the demilitarized zone down the the Laotian and Cambodian borders to Loc Ninh, the Viet Cong headquarters 75 miles north of Saigon.

South Vietnamese officials maintain this is in preparation for a general offensive during the dry season early in the new year.

High Gasoline Tax Pushed By Advisors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress may soon be asked to authorize a tax increase on gasoline that could increase the price to about 60 cents a gallon.

Administration forces favoring such an increase were working toward that goal in Congress even before a shake-up of President Nixon's energy advisers, sources said.

President Nixon was expected to announce today the creation of a new Federal Energy Administration headed by William E. Simon.

Also today the Senate was scheduled to take up a measure to put the nation on year-round Daylight Saving Time to conserve fuel.

Simon, who will remain as deputy Treasury secretary, has been aligned with those administration advisers arguing that a heavy tax on gasoline is the best way to reduce consumption.

On Monday Simon said once he is officially appointed to the new post he would become chairman of the Cabinet-level Energy Emergency Action Group formerly headed by John A. Love.

Love resigned Monday and sources said his deputy, Charles J. DiBona, also submitted his resignation.

Love, who had said that gasoline rationing would be necessary, told the Denver Post he didn't want to remain in a "superfluous job."

"To be honest, it's been difficult to try to do anything meaningful and even to get the attention of the President," the Post quoted Love as saying.

Simon said in an interview that speculation that the reorganization reflected a victory by Treasury Secretary George Shultz and his suggestion of a gasoline tax over Love was "sheer nonsense."

But informed sources said the disagreement over rationing versus taxes was at the heart of the decision to reassign energy responsibility.

Administration officials considered close to Shultz and Simon were talking soundings on Capitol Hill about a higher gasoline tax well before Simon's designation, sources said.

Their representatives were trying to determine how high a tax increase on gasoline Congress might approve, the sources said.

Some apparently concluded that a 10-cent a gallon tax increase might be realistic enough to be proposed formally.

Such a tax, accompanied by permission to oil companies to pass through to the consumer increases in crude oil and other costs, would raise the price of gasoline at the filling station by about 14 cents per gallon.

That would mean a retail price of about 60 cents a gallon.

Simon said Monday he will press for a decision on rationing "in the very near future and I emphasize very."

A year-round Daylight Saving Time measure has passed the House by an overwhelming margin.

The House Monday passed a bill that would require the states to set a 55 mile-per-hour speed limit or lose federal highway funds.

Judge Gets Milk Fund Documents

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is surrendering secret milk fund documents to a federal judge, including the first tape to be released not directly related to Watergate.

But a Justice Department attorney said U.S. District Judge William B. Jones will be asked to keep the material under wraps on the grounds that it is protected by executive privilege.

The documents and tape could be turned over as early as today, said the department attorney.

The material, demanded by consumer advocate Ralph Nader in a civil suit, bears on the circumstances surrounding the administration's abrupt turnabout decision in 1971 to raise federal milk price supports.

Nader's suit charges that the Nixon administration raised the milk supports in exchange for more than $200,000 in secret contributions from the dairy industry to President Nixon's reelection campaign.

This contention is at odds with Nixon's own statement to The Associated Press Managing Editors last month that "Congress put the gun to our heads" by demanding higher support prices.

Government lawyers said Monday the tape recording, made on the same system that produced the presidential Watergate tapes, is of a meeting between Nixon and top administration officials on March 23, 1971.

This is one day after the dairy industry made the first of many secret contributions to the campaign and two days before the administration reversed a 13-day-old decision not to increase the federal support price for milk.

Nader's lawyers contend the meeting was crucial to that change in policy.

The tape might show just what factors led to the policy change which, by industry estimates, was worth $300 million to $700 million to America's dairy farmers.

The judge is expected to listen to the tape and examine the other material in his chambers before ruling on the claim of executive privilege. Should he reject that claim, the White House could appeal the ruling.

Sources said that some 68 documents are being turned over to the judge.

The White House last summer refused to surrender the documents when they were subpoenaed. Justice Department attorney Irwin Goldblum said the government has "re-examined its position" and has decided to permit the judge to inspect the evidence in private to decide whether it should be used in the case.

Additionally, nearly 30 documents are being turned over to the plaintiffs in the case with no claim of executive privilege.

Jury Selection Starts In Murder Trial

Selection of the jury for the murder trial of Denver Eugene Meade got underway Monday afternoon in common pleas court. By press time this morning, the jury still had not been selected.

Representing Meade on the two first degree murder counts are Tom H. Nagel and Donald V. Alexander of Columbus. Meade's pleas of not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity were reaffirmed by Alexander in his examination of prospective jurors.

County Prosecutor Richard L. Gerhardt, his assistant James R. Kingsley and special counsel for the prosecution, Robert H. Huffer make up the legal team for the state.

At the close of Monday's session, Alexander had excused one juror exercising one of his allotted four peremptory challenges. Alexander had challenged the juror and the court overruled the motion forcing him to use the peremptory challenge.

The state excused two jurors Monday and the defense another one this morning. Each side now has two challenges left for the selection of the main jury and two for the selection of the alternates. The first 20 names of the jury list have been exhausted. Sixty names were drawn for this jury.

Most of the questions asked prospective jurors involved their impartiality concerning the case and their ability to follow the court's instructions concerning the law. The defense counsel asked if the fact that two pleas had been entered caused any misunderstanding. Persons who admittedly have preformed opinions are usually excused for obvious reasons.

Bulletin

NEW YORK (AP) — John Capelletti, Penn State's All American running back, won the Heisman Trophy today as the outstanding college football player of 1973.

Gerhardt reminded the panel that if the question of insanity is brought up, it will be the burden of the defense to prove the defendant insane instead of the burden of the prosecution to prove him sane.

Alexander explained to the prospective jury that although Meade caused the deaths of Charlotte Ann and John Douglas Van Sickle, the act does not constitute the charge.

Two persons were excused from jury duty as they expressed pressing matters which both counsels believed would lessen their attention to the matter at hand.

This group of people has been subject to call for jury duty since Labor Day and several have served recently on civil juries. Alexander explained that this trial involves the most serious crime under our laws and the decision should not be treated as a civil matter would be.

Meade sat throughout the lengthy proceedings as a group of 12 are selected to decide his future. Alexander asked each prospective juror if he or she would be satisfied to have a person with his or her attitudes sit in judgment if the juror were in Meade's chair. Although this is a hypothetical question, each of the people questioned answered affirmatively.

Alexander asked prospective jurors if they regarded psychiatry as a respected medical science and psychology as a refined and legitimate science. They were also asked if they had attended a mental hospital and if they could accept the fact that people do have mental defects and can't tell right from wrong or can't refrain from doing something.

The court recesses at noon and reconvenes at 1:15 for the afternoon session.

Berger Fund Increased By $10,000

Berger Hospital Administrator John E. Reid announced today the hospital building fund has been increased by another pledge from local industry. Dean A. Logan, general manager at Owens-Illinois, informed the Board of Governors of the hospital the local plant is pledging $10,000.

The money is to be allocated in two installments, $5,000 during 1974 and another $5,000 the following year. The money will be used in Phase II of the building project which will add 100 beds to the hospital facility.

Another addition to the fund is a $100 check sent to the board by the Scioto Coca-Cola Company. The money will be added to other amounts and used in the addition and construction of the hospital.

With the pledge from Owens-Illinois and the cash-in-hand from the local Coca-Cola plant, the total money received from industry to date amounts to $17,600. This total includes last week's pledge of $7,500 from PPG Industries.

State, National Electrical Energy Use Declines

By WILLIAM KRONHOLM
Associated Press Writer

Warm weather apparently has been more of a factor in reducing natural gas and oil consumption in Ohio than pleas for conservation, utility company spokesmen said Monday.

A check of gas and electric utilities across the state show consumption apparently is dropping.

But unseasonably warm weather through November probably has caused the drop, the utilities said. The spokesmen said it wasn't possible to tell if the President's Nov. 8 speech urging energy conservation had a major effect.

"It's not indicative of a trend" said David Altemuehle of Cincinnati Gas and Electric of figures showing a slight decline in electricity usage.

"As a matter of fact, it's going to take quite a bit longer to find if there is a trend."

Electric utilities, with ample supplies of coal to run their generators, aren't encouraging their customers to cut back. They say they want to promote wise use of electricity, however.

"Our slogan is 'Use all you need, but need all you use,'" said Bruce Wilson of Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. "It's in the interest of promoting the use of all energy forms."

CEI said there was no noticeable change in consumption of electricity in Cleveland.

Small cutbacks were reported in Dayton and Cincinnati in electrical usage. Columbus and Akron said they expected slight increases, but attributed them to increased numbers of customers.

Robert Jones of Columbus and Southern Electric said his firm's figures were thrown off by a freeze imposed last year on new natural gas connections. The ban brought new, unexpected customers to the electric utility and prevents valid evaluations of whether consumers are trying to conserve, he said.

Both Columbia Gas of Ohio Inc. and East Ohio Gas Co. reported declining consumption of natural gas. East Ohio attributed the drop to warmer weather, but Columbia said it thought its conservation campaign was taking effect.

"With just spot checks, we have a feeling our customers are cooperating," said Bill Chaddock of Columbia Gas.

"We have nothing to back it up," however, he said. "Our figures don't show anything right now; the difference is so minute it doesn't make any sense to talk about it."

A spokesman for Consolidated Edison in New York City said that for the weeks ended Nov. 4 and Nov. 11, electricity consumption was higher than during the same period in 1972. The next two weeks showed a decline, however, both from the previous weeks and from the 1972 figures.

Con Ed spokesmen were reluctant to give a reason for the decline, citing weather, population growth and other variables that would affect the amount of electricity used.

Milton Musicus, chairman of the Mayor's Emergency Energy Committee, said, however: "We must have turned the tide. We're not only cutting growth, but are making inroads into actual usage."

Pacific Gas & Electric in San Francisco said that for the week ended Nov. 24, consumption was up 2.6 per cent over the figure a year ago, but was 10.4 per cent below what had been predicted.

Bill Conley of the New England Power Exchange, whose 44 member companies account for 95 per cent of all the electricity generated in New England, said usage was estimated at four or five per cent below the forecast previously made for November.

"We believe that the decrease — or a good portion of it — is due to conservation measures," he said.

The Edison Electric Institute, which compiles nationwide statistics, confirmed that electricity usage declined during November, particularly near the end of the month. But the institute warned that its figures did not take into account variables like the weather and therefore said it could not draw any conclusions from the figures.

High Gasoline Tax Pushed By Advisors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress may soon be asked to authorize a tax increase on gasoline that could increase the price to about 60 cents a gallon.

Administration forces favoring such an increase were working toward that goal in Congress even before a shake-up of President Nixon's energy advisers, sources said.

President Nixon was expected to announce today the creation of a new Federal Energy Administration headed by William E. Simon.

Also today the Senate was scheduled to take up a measure to put the nation on year-round Daylight Saving Time to conserve fuel.

Simon, who will remain as deputy Treasury secretary, has been aligned with those administration advisers arguing that a heavy tax on gasoline is the best way to reduce consumption.

On Monday Simon said once he is officially appointed to the new post he would become chairman of the Cabinet-level Energy Emergency Action Group formerly headed by John A. Love.

Love resigned Monday and sources

said his deputy, Charles J. DiBona, also submitted his resignation.

Love, who had said that gasoline rationing would be necessary, told the Denver Post he didn't want to remain in a "superfluous job."

"To be honest, it's been difficult to try to do anything meaningful and even to get the attention of the President," the Post quoted Love as saying.

Simon said in an interview that speculation that the reorganization reflected a victory by Treasury Secretary George Shultz and his suggestion of a gasoline tax over Love was "sheer nonsense."

But informed sources said the disagreement over rationing versus taxes was at the heart of the decision to reassign energy responsibility.

Administration officials considered close to Shultz and Simon were talking soundings on Capitol Hill about a higher gasoline tax well before Simon's designation, sources said.

Their representatives were trying to determine how high a tax increase on gasoline Congress might approve, the sources said.

Some apparently concluded that a 10-cent a gallon tax increase might be realistic enough to be proposed formally.

Such a tax, accompanied by permission to oil companies to pass through to the consumer increases in crude oil and other costs, would raise the price of gasoline at the filling station by about 14 cents per gallon.

That would mean a retail price of about 60 cents a gallon.

Simon said Monday he will press for a decision on rationing "in the very near future and I emphasize very."

A year-round Daylight Saving Time measure has passed the House by an overwhelming margin.

The House Monday passed a bill that would require the states to set a 55 mile-per-hour speed limit or lose federal highway funds.

Judge Gets Milk Fund Documents

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is surrendering secret milk fund documents to a federal judge, including the first tape to be released not directly related to Watergate.

But a Justice Department attorney said U.S. District Judge William B. Jones will be asked to keep the material under wraps on the grounds that it is protected by executive privilege.

The documents and tape could be turned over as early as today, said the department attorney.

The material, demanded by consumer advocate Ralph Nader in a civil suit, bears on the circumstances surrounding the administration's abrupt turnabout decision in 1971 to raise federal milk price supports.

Nader's suit charges that the Nixon administration raised the milk supports in exchange for more than $200,000 in secret contributions from the dairy industry to President Nixon's reelection campaign.

This contention is at odds with Nixon's own statement to The Associated Press Managing Editors last month that "Congress put the gun to our heads" by demanding higher support prices.

Government lawyers said Monday the tape recording, made on the same system that produced the presidential Watergate tapes, is of a meeting between Nixon and top administration officials on March 23, 1971.

This is one day after the dairy industry made the first of many secret contributions to the campaign and two days before the administration reversed a 13-day-old decision not to increase the federal support price for milk.

Nader's lawyers contend the meeting was crucial to that change in policy.

The tape might show just what factors led to the policy change which, by industry estimates, was worth $300 million to $700 million to America's dairy farmers.

The judge is expected to listen to the tape and examine the other material in his chambers before ruling on the claim of executive privilege. Should he reject that claim, the White House could appeal the ruling.

Sources said that some 68 documents are being turned over to the judge.

The White House last summer refused to surrender the documents when they were subpoenaed. Justice Department attorney Irwin Goldblum said the government has "re-examined its position" and has decided to permit the judge to inspect the evidence in private to decide whether it should be used in the case.

Additionally, nearly 30 documents are being turned over to the plaintiffs in the case with no claim of executive privilege.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — After a brief but unenthusiastic morning rally, the stock market resumed its downward drift today as fears of a recession next year continued.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 4.89 at 801.63, giving up an earlier spurt that placed the index over 2 points up. Declines outpaced advances 7 to 4 on the New York Stock Exchange in active trading.

With little positive news to pull the market higher, brokers continue to attribute the selling to the combined pressures of energy shortages and higher interest rates.

General Motors, already batted by recent selling, sank another 1 1/2 to 46 1/2, topping Big Board volume, followed by Fannie Mae, unchanged at 19 1/2, and Sterling Drug, off 1/4 at 27 1/2. The NYSE broad-based index dropped .52 to 49.74.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index slumped .52 to 90.77 as Cutter Labs A, up 1/8 at 17 1/2, led trading. Loews Theater advanced 3/4 to 11 1/2, while Research Cottrell fell 1 3/4 to 48.

Man Apprehended In High-Speed Chase

A Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy was involved in an accident 10:01 p.m. Monday while pursuing a Chillicothe man who was fleeing Ross County Authorities.

Roger A. Kinnamon, 21, Chillicothe, was apprehended at the intersection off State Routes 665 and 104, after being chased by seven law enforcement agencies.

Kinnaamon was driving north on Route 104 at speeds in excess of 100 miles per hour when Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy J. Phillip Brown attempted to stop him.

Approaching Brown from the rear, Kinnamon flashed his bright lights on and hit the cruiser forcing it off the road.

Maintaining control of the cruiser, Deputy Brown pursued Kinnamon. Sheriff's Deputy Lawrence Holt joined in pursuing the runaway driver at the time.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Authorities notified the Franklin County Sheriff's Department of the high-speed chase and advised them to set up road blocks.

The Hamilton Township Police Department set up a road block at State Routes 665 and 104, with the Ohio State Highway Patrol blocking Route 316. Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, Detective Don Thompson and Commercial Point Police blocked Route 762.

Kinnamon saw the road blocks and tried unsuccessfully to get through the Hamilton Township Police Department block. A semi-trailer was parked across the road to stop the speeder.

See Dual Senate Race Endorsement

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland Howard Metzbaum and John Glenn could get a joint party endorsement in their bid for the 1974 Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate.

Governor John J. Gilligan was quoted Monday by an aide as saying he would like to see an open contest between the two major contenders.

Robert Tenenbaum, Gilligan's press secretary, said the governor has indicated a joint endorsement could solve the problem although "I haven't heard him say it flatly."

Gilligan told a Democratic candidates' screening committee over the weekend he favors "the principal" of endorsement, as opposed to no stand by the state party.

Metzbaum, who also appeared before the committee, said he would not want an endorsement if his polling showed it would hurt Gilligan's reelection bid or divide the Democrats. Glenn reiterated that he thinks there should be no endorsement.

The screening committee is expected to pass its recommendations along to the Ohio Executive Committee, which will make a final decision.

Metzbaum, who lost to GOP Sen. Robert Taft Jr. in Ohio's 1970 senatorial contest, already has declared for the May 1974 Democratic contest. Glenn, the former astronaut who lost to Metzbaum in the 1970 primary, is expected to make his formal announcement in the near future.

Sheriff's Deputy Brown charged Kinnamon with fleeing a police officer, reckless operation, speed and driving left of center. Sheriff's Deputy Holt cited Kinnamon with a stop sign violation, fleeing a police officer and assured clear distance ahead.

Damage to the Sheriff's cruiser was estimated to be less than $100.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — After a brief but unenthusiastic morning rally, the stock market resumed its downward drift today as fears of a recession next year continued.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 4.89 at 801.63, giving up an earlier spurt that placed the index over 2 points up. Declines out-paced advances 7 to 4 on the New York Stock Exchange in active trading.

With little positive news to pull the market higher, brokers continue to attribute the selling to the combined pressures of energy shortages and higher interest rates.

General Motors, already battered by recent selling, sank another 1½ to 46½, topping Big Board volume, followed by Fannie Mae, unchanged at 19½, and Sterling Drug, off ¼ at 27½. The NYSE broad-based index dropped .34 to 49.74.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index slumped .52 to 90.77 as Cutter Labs A, up ¼ at 17½, led trading. Loews Theater advanced ¾ to 11½, while Research Cottrell fell 1¾ to 48.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's amusement parks are hoping the energy crisis will turn into a tourist boom if gasoline-conscious Ohioans stay close to home for their vacations next year.

The travel industry amounts to about $1.2 billion in Ohio, although 60 per cent of all Ohio residents currently take their vacations outside of Ohio's borders.

"All of us in the travel business apparently feel the same way," said George Becker, vice president of Sea World of Ohio, Inc., which operates between Cleveland and Akron.

"We think the trend will be for families to take shorter trips rather than one long vacation," he said.

"Naturally, we are as worried about an energy crisis and a gasoline shortage as anyone else," confessed Emile A. Legros, board chairman of Cedar Point, Inc., a huge amusement park near Sandusky.

He said Cedar Point drew 51 per cent of its attendance from Ohio last year, while another 34.2 per cent came from Michigan.

"We consider our prime marketing area to be within a 120-mile radius of Sandusky," Legros said. "This area contains 12 million people. We think most people can get to Cedar Point and then back home on a tankful of gas."

The other large amusement park in Ohio, Kings Island near Cincinnati, draws the bulk of its crowds from Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia. Representatives concede fewer long distance visitors are expected next year.

Both Kings Island and Cedar Point say the fuel pinch may hurt the operation of gasoline-powered trains, which ferry customers in and out of parking lots. Cedar Point also operates a large marina, which also could be affected by gasoline cutbacks.

But Cedar Point is going ahead with a $2.5 million capital improvements program this winter, and Kings Island says there are no plans to scrap a $6 million "Lion Country Safari" being readied to open next spring.

Geauga Lake Park executive Earl W. Gascoigne said he thinks the energy crisis will help his park to the east of Cleveland. But he said it may come at the expense of larger facilities such as Cedar Point.

"I feel sorry for people who depend on tourists and travelers," he said. He said his park's marketing area is about 50 miles across and contains about five million persons.

"People are going to stay home and visit places close to their homes," he said. "I know Cedar Point doesn't think they will be hurt, but I'm less optimistic about them than I am for myself."

"We are very confident about our business growth, unless the government imposes gas rationing," he said. But "we would not be hurt as much by this as other parks would."

Phone Pact Approved

BELLEVUE, Ohio (AP)—A new two-year contract covering 1,300 employees of the Northern Ohio Telephone Co. at Bellevue has been ratified by members of Local 986 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Warren Edstrom, president of the local, said the contract, which replaces a one-year pact that expired Nov. 24, was accepted Sunday by a six to one margin.

Edstrom said it calls for a wage increase of 72 cents an hour over the next six months which will bring top scale to $5.26, equal to that of employees of the parent company, General Telephone Co. Also included are an agency shop and improvements in vacations.

The pact also provides for a reopener in November 1974 for wages and pension benefits, Edstrom said.

See Credibility Gap With Energy Crisis

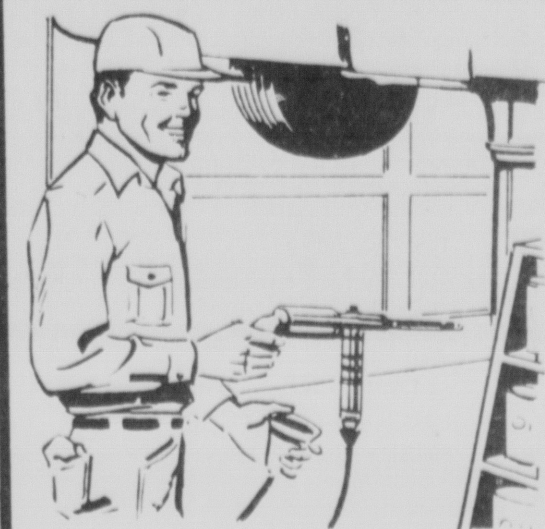

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — America is suffering from a credibility crisis, compounded by an energy crisis, the chairman of Cuyahoga County Republican organization said Saturday.

Robert Hughes told the Ohio League of Young Republicans meeting here that it is time the GOP stopped feeling sorry for itself after Watergate.

Hughes said the party has provided candidates the public could trust in the past. He said that is the party's job in 1974.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

One good look

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 47 and I'm 45. Five years ago he had an affair with a young woman who works at the factory where he works. It's all over now and I have forgiven him, but another problem has come up. I have a 24-year-old daughter who started working at the factory where her father and this old flame of his are still working.

Different people who work there have told me that my daughter has been going around asking people if they know in which department her father's old girl friend works so she can get a look at her. She told her foreman she just wanted to see if she could see what her father saw in that lady that made him flip his lid and hurt me so much.

What can I do about this? I don't want my daughter to see this woman. Worrying about it has made me a nervous wreck.

NIGHTMARES IN R.I.

DEAR NIGHTMARES: You can't stop your daughter from trying to satisfy her curiosity. So what if she does see this woman? The affair is over, so put it out of your mind and don't make a federal case out of it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl with a BIG problem. My nose. Both my parents have noses like you wouldn't believe, so it's no wonder.

I have no brother or sisters. I joke about it, saying, "after my parents saw me they decided not to have any more." (It's probably true.)

I have friends, but I've never had a date. I'm always clowning around, laughing at myself, but inside, my heart is breaking because I feel so ugly with this nose.

I've begged my parents to give me a nose job but my father says it's too expensive, and my mother says if people don't like me for myself they are false friends.

I'm a good student but I want to quit school and get a job so I can start saving for a nose job. I need it NOW, not 10 years from now. Do you know of any plastic surgeon who will do my nose now and let me pay him later? I'll sit with his kids, I'll scrub his floors at home or at his office. I'll do anything. Abby, if he'll fix my nose and let me pay him on time. Please?

"SCHNOZ"

DEAR SCHNOZ: Send me your name and address and I'll do a little nosing around for you.

DEAR ABBY: I am glad that airlines are now separating smokers from nonsmokers, but can't something be done to help office workers who don't smoke, yet are obligated to spend eight hours a day, five days a week in closed offices with workers who smoke all day long?

Nonsmokers are made miserable by the thoughtlessness of our fellow workers, not to mention the harm done to our hearts and lungs by forced breathing of others' smoke for hours. Many don't dare complain because the boss and his secretary both smoke, and they, with other smokers, would be furious if we protested.

We need our jobs, many being too near retirement to think of seeking employment elsewhere. Can't the Environmental Protection Agency set standards for offices in this country?

What IS the answer for this category of long-suffering nonsmokers?

SICK FROM SMOKE
INN. MEX.

DEAR SICK: I wish I knew. You can't legislate consideration for others. Most cigaret smokers are aware that they offend nonsmokers, but are either too hooked to refrain or too selfish to care. I just wish they would voluntarily go somewhere else to indulge their habits.

Coal Decision Let Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today declined to hear an appeal from a group of Tennessee coal mine operators seeking antitrust damages from the United Mine Workers Union.

The court left standing a decision by the U.S. Circuit Court at Cincinnati which held that the union had not engaged in a conspiracy with larger coal companies to drive the complaining operators out of business.

It was the second time the issue has been before the Supreme Court. The first time, the justices decided 5-4 that the lower courts used too stringent a standard of proof. They remanded the case for reconsideration under a more lax standard.

The lower courts reached the same result the second time around.

The coal operators argued that the lower courts failed to comply with the Supreme Court mandate and had erred in failing to admit new evidence.

A Page Of Opinion

Coal Stand-By

Coal is being mentioned more frequently as one of the few alternative sources of energy the nation may turn to in its deepening petroleum crisis. Few of those who talk of coal seem overly enthusiastic about the idea. The reason coal has been phased out of its dominant position as the foremost source of energy has nothing to do with availability. Oil and gas simply were more efficient and convenient fuels.

Those considerations do not count in today's situation. Availability is what counts, and coal reserves are abundant. According to an official of the nation's largest coal producer, nearly 13 billion tons of anthracite are contained in known reserves, and two-thirds of it is recoverable.

But if the call came for all-out coal production, the results would not be instantaneous. Only about 7 million tons of hard coal are produced annually, down from a peak of 100 million tons. Of the 125,000 miners once employed in the mines, only about 4,000 are now at work.

Industry officials estimate production could be doubled, but only after four years of development and if large infusions of capital and manpower could be found. There is enough coal in the ground to last for centuries, but it will not be easily extracted or employed.

Good Heavens!

NEW YORK, — Dr. Donald H. Menzel, Paine Professor of Practical Astronomy at Harvard, has a book out that is superbly attuned to these times when men's eyes are beholding the heavens in greater numbers than ever before. It is called "Astronomy," published by Chanticleer Press (Random House), costs more than Jacqueline Susann's latest, but involves many more stars. There are 210 photographs from the world's great observatories and NASA space flights, and 85 superb illustrations by Dr. Ching-Sung Yu, who taught at the University of Amoy and is now Professor Emeritus of Astronomy at Hood College, Frederick, Md. That's a long way from Amoy, but not even a tidily-wink jump as Dr. Menzel views and measures space and distances in an excerpt from "Astronomy" in the current issue of one of my favorite magazines, "Arizona Highways."

To illustrate the tiny scope of our earthly mustardseediness, Dr. Menzel recalls a work by one of the lesser-known space writers, Mark Twain:

"In his story 'Captain Stormfield's Visit to Heaven,' (Twain) related an incident obviously intended to seem absurdly extravagant. Captain Stormfield, having died and started on his way to heaven, was unable to resist the temptation to race with a comet. He ended up, far off course, in a sort of heavenly 'missing persons bureau.' (To check on Stormfield's claimed origin) an angel went up in a balloon alongside of a map of the universe about as big as the state of Rhode Island to look for our solar system, and came down three days later saying he had perhaps found it, but maybe it was just flyspecks."

Dr. Menzel agrees with the angel's confusion, in view of expansions of man's horizons since Twain's time. The angel's task would be immensely magnified today; the Rhode Island map he or she or it used would be as obsolete as, say, a thirsty Pierce-Arrow pulling into a gas station on an empty turnpike. Menzel writes:

"Now, let us enter this model universe (Ed. Note: As the angel did, to find out where Stormfield was from) and try to find our solar system. As we enter the great volume our first impression is that the building is entirely empty. Fortunately, we have brought with us a super-microscope, for on the scale that we have used, no ordinary microscope would be able to render the stars visible. The largest are scarcely one-millionth of an inch across, and the smaller ones are about the size of atoms."

"When our eyes become adapted to this microscopic vision, we immediately note that the universe shows clear signs of order. Stars are by no means scattered uniformly throughout the enormous volume. They form groups, or clusters, something like giant swarms of gnats. The stellar population is concentrated in these regions, with vast realm of nothingness in between. Some of these groupings of stars are irregular in shape. Others are round and flat, like a pie plate. Each group contains hundreds of millions and sometimes as many as a hundred billion stars. What impresses us most is the emptiness of space and the vast distances between the stars and groups of stars. Stellar traffic lanes are decidedly uncrowded. The chances of two stars accidentally colliding is almost infinitesimal.

"There are millions of groups of clustering stars. In many clusters the stars are arranged like the coils of a watch-spring, giving the aggregation a pin-wheel appearance. These are the great spiral nebulae. If we are to search out our sun, we must first find our Milky Way. Like many other galaxies, it has spiral arms. It contains about 100,000,000,000 (100 billion) stars and the task of searching out our sun (our one little star, from among that vast assemblage, even after we have located the Milky Way, is herculean.

NEW YORK (AP) — Whether they like it or not, economists are always looking at cycles of ups and downs because, as almost nobody fails to understand today, that's the way the economy bounces.

In fact, the greatest single effort of economists since the days of the depression of the 1930s has been to flatten out these cycles and thereby lessen the damage of inflation and unemployment.

In the early 1960s there was considerable confidence in their ability to do so, to "fine tune" the economy, as they put it, and for a few years it seemed to succeed. But then the convolutions returned.

Wise economists today feel far less able to tell monetary and fiscal authorities how to run a smooth economy. They mightn't like to admit it, but a good many believe the world's economies will always be a merry-go-round.

That is, when one nation's economy is high another's might be low, the result of different economic policies, temporary trade advantages, changes in the demand for goods, the availability of labor, and so on.

But now, oddly enough, all the horses seem to be descending together, just as they ascended in unison and remained high over the past few years. They went up together and now they seem to be falling together.

Students of cycles claim they haven't seen such a pattern since the late 1920s.

The fact is that almost all the world's great industrial nations are suffering from serious inflation—in some instances far worse than in the United States. Most are seeking to slow their economies. Most have falling stock markets.

This was so even before the Mideast oil cutback caused economists everywhere to sharpen the economic declines they already had forecast. They expected an easy descent and a bounce; now they're not sure.

Talk of a worldwide recession is more common in informal discussions than in the more considered, published forecasts that have been issued. One economy's decline, they fear, could reinforce that of another.

The United States, for instance, appears finally to have corrected its trade imbalance. This is, it has arrested the condition in which dollars were flowing out because imports exceeded exports.

Now that the United States finally is selling more abroad than it imports, the economists note, the strength of the dollar is improving. But then they make a second observation:

If America's trading partners fall into a recession, how will they be able to buy American goods? If foreign economies are down, if workers are without jobs, where will the buying power come from?

I needed several transfusions when I was in the hospital. I was perturbed because of stories I had read about the infected blood sometimes used accidentally for transfusions.

With my doctor's permission, when I recovered I and my whole family donated blood to the hospital in gratitude for their kindness to me.

Isn't this a wonderful way to eliminate the dangers of infected blood?

Mr. B. L., N.Y.

Dear Mr. L.:

Yours is a brilliant idea which could well be incorporated in the new national plans to change the whole system of blood banking.

It is expected that in the next two years the collection of blood will be on an all-volunteer basis. No longer will blood be taken from paid blood donors. This may obviate the major problem of transfusion hepatitis that is traced to unreliable and unacceptable blood donors.

Blood is needed and absolutely essential. If the dangerous practice of buying blood is to be eliminated, your idea of collecting blood from grateful volunteers may be most important.

Scientists are making concentrated efforts to devise blood substitutes in an effort to stave off the major problem of the shortage of blood.

The gift of a pint is a thoughtful consideration. It is a gift that frequently rebounds to save the life of the donor when he himself has a need for a safe blood transfusion.

Our daughter was almost killed while riding a bicycle. When first we read one of your articles pleading for precautions about bicycle riding we thought it was far-fetched.

I hope other people will learn from our near-tragedy and take greater precautions.

Mrs. T.F.B., Miss.

Dear Mrs. B.:

Thank you for your thoughtfulness in writing about this important subject.

I was dumbfounded when I learned from a statistical survey that bicycle accidents were so high on the list. This excellent exercise will continue to be hazardous unless riders are trained in the methods of avoiding accidents.

For example, riding a bike at dusk is particularly dangerous. Automobile drivers are known to have the sharpness of their vision reduced at that time.

In addition, the glare of the lowering sun adds to the danger of bike riding.

More and more bicyclists are wearing a light-reflecting material so that automobile and truck drivers can clearly distinguish them in the dark.

I truly believe that light-weight helmets and a face-protecting mask should be as legally necessary as they are for those who ride motorcycles.

Courses in bicycle safety should be given in schools, in preparation for riding at all time of the day, and in all communities.

Kissinger Keeps Solons Informed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is making good on his pledge to keep Congress informed on foreign policy matters.

In barely more than two months since his confirmation by the Senate Sept. 21, Kissinger has made eight appearances before Senate and House committees for briefing questions on world affairs.

By contrast, former Secretary of State William P. Rogers testified only nine times in the first eight months of this year prior to his resignation effective Sept. 3.

At his confirmation hearing, Kissinger promised the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in his dual role as secretary of state and national security adviser to the president he would not claim executive privilege. He said "the committee should receive substantially more information than it has in the past."

Pressed on the point by Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., Kissinger responded:

"It is my belief, Mr. Chairman, that it is important for the committee to understand the general design of our policy and to express its views about this design as it is being formulated."

The October Arab-Israeli war provided the first test.

Kissinger talked it over with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Oct. 12 and Oct. 31 before departing for Arab capitals and the Far East. Upon his return he gave the committee another briefing Nov. 20.

Kissinger gave his Middle East-Far East trip report over again to the Senate Armed Services Committee mittee between Feb. 21 and June 28 and three times before the House Foreign Affairs Committee Feb. 8, March 6 and June 5. There were no sessions with the Senate or House Armed Services Committees.

UMW Chief Rips Nixon Energy Plan

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The head of the United Mine Workers said today that President Nixon's decision to use 250 oil executives to help run the federal government's energy program is a "sure-fire formula for disaster."

"While the President offers us makeshift solutions like turning down our thermostats, he leaves the long-range decisions on energy to the people who got us into this mess in the first place," said UMW President Arnold Miller. Miller's remarks were in an address prepared for the UMW's 46th convention which opened today.

He reiterated his belief that the oil industry has gained monopoly control over energy resources and discouraged developments of competing fuels over the past two decades.

Miller also struck a militant stance as he linked the fuel shortage with upcoming coal industry contract talks.

"The pick and shovel days are over," he said, "and we intend to let the coal industry know it in our new contract."

The UMW "intends to be reasonable in its negotiating demands next year," he said, "but coal miners have a lot of lost ground to make up."

In addition to wages and improvements in the miners' $150-a-month pensions, he said the emphasis would be on strict enforcement of safety rules and on securing cost of living increases and paid sick leave, two benefits not in the current contract, which expires next November.

The convention is the first under Miller and the reform leadership, which 12 months ago won control of the union from W. A. "Tony" Boyle in a government-policed election.

They'll Do It Every Time

A Page Of Opinion

Coal Stand-By

Coal is being mentioned more frequently as one of the few alternative sources of energy the nation may turn to in its deepening petroleum crisis. Few of those who talk of coal seem overly enthusiastic about the idea. The reason coal has been phased out of its dominant position as the foremost source of energy has nothing to do with availability. Oil and gas simply were more efficient and convenient fuels.

Those considerations do not count in today's situation. Availability is what counts, and coal reserves are abundant. According to an official of the nation's largest coal producer, nearly 13 billion tons of anthracite are contained in known reserves, and two-thirds of it is recoverable.

But if the call came for all-out coal production, the results would not be instantaneous. Only about 7 million tons of hard coal are produced annually, down from a peak of 100 million tons. Of the 125,000 miners once employed in the mines, only about 4,000 are now at work.

Industry officials estimate production could be doubled, but only after four years of development and if large infusions of capital and manpower could be found. There is enough coal in the ground to last for centuries, but it will not be easily extracted or employed.

Yet that little lost star keeps more than 3,000,000,000 human beings alive on Earth, one of the lesser planets of its system, and sustains uncountable animals, marine species, energy-storing vegetation, trillion-trillion insects, bacteria, etc.

Moreover, for all its diminutiveness, this hot little eye in the sky imposes flabbergasting disciplines on its crazily spinning planets and their assorted moons. It keeps them going round and round like an equestrian act at the circus, while the whole system moves with the Milky Way at 135 miles a second.

It dominates more than planets and moons. Now it has ordered a comet we've named Kohoutek to come back for Christmas, after being away from home and hearth for a million years.

UMW Chief Rips Nixon Energy Plan

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The head of the United Mine Workers said today that President Nixon's decision to use 250 oil executives to help run the federal government's energy program is a "sure-fire formula for disaster."

Logan Elm Reinstates Title I Reading Program

A revised allocation of Title I funds allowed the Logan Elm Board of Education to reinstate the reading program of last year. Among the items for approval at the regular monthly meeting of the board Monday night was the re-employment of one full-time teacher in the Title I reading program and the promotion of the part-time teacher to full time.

The district will receive 90 per cent of the 1973 allocation of funds for the fiscal year of 1974 and will operate the same program as last year. The total funds available through Title I for the district is $39,791.04. At the beginning of the year, the board was forced to cut the reading program by one and one half teachers because of a cutback in the federal funds.

Lunch prices will be raised after school resumes in January. The new price scale will be teachers, 60 cents; students grades seven through 12, 45 cents; students grades one through six, 40 cents.

Milk prices from the Blue Ribbon Dairy supplier to the board were increased from eight cents to nine cents. The board through government reimbursement is still able to sell the milk to the students for five cents by absorbing the extra costs in the lunch program.

Under employment, the board approved hiring Lavona Holbrook as a custodial aide and Mary Beth Stevens as a substitute bus driver.

Logan Elm Classroom Teachers Association representative Nancy

Beery was granted permission to attend the Ohio Education Association convention Dec. 13-14. Ms. Beery will be the official delegate to the convention to be held in Columbus.

Approval was granted for the clerk and superintendent to attend an unemployment compensation seminar Dec. 10, in Columbus at the Marriott Inn.

Superintendent John Henn reported to the board concerning the parent-teacher conference day which was Nov. 2. The report showed an overall improvement on the part of the parents from last year's conferences. A total of 484 conferences were held. Laurelville reported 111 conferences; Salt Creek 43, Pickaway, 92; Washington, 94; McDowell Exchange, 118; Logan Elm High School, 18. Eight conferences were held with the district administrators.

The annual teacher's survey will be conducted in January this year instead of March. The survey is a preliminary measure to see how many of the teachers in the district are planning to return to their jobs next year.

Superintendent Henn reported to the board on the present energy crisis. The board agreed to help by instituting guidelines concerning heating, busing, and incorporating conservation in the classroom discussions. A list of measures to be taken to cut back energy use will be prepared by the board and superintendent.

A discussion of fuel oil and gasoline for the Logan Elm District showed the total amount of gasoline used by the district per day is 426 gallons. Due to the unstable situation, all field trips will be postponed until May. Superintendent Henn informed the board that the federal ruling requires all districts to go back to the supplier of January, 1972.

The board approved returning its business to Marathon since that was the supplier in the 1972 base year. Allocations of fuel are also based on the 1972 standards.

Board policy of requiring all athletic teams to travel by bus was reaffirmed. The wrestling team had requested to travel to meets by car and the request was denied.

A discussion was held on the operating levy and the board decided to resubmit the levy on the May primary ballot.

An athletic report showed the season net profit for football to be $3,469.

The board adjourned to meet again for an extension of this meeting at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 17.

Organization Of Lottery Scheduled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The new State Lottery Commission will meet in Columbus Wednesday to elect a chairman and begin other organizational work.

Gov. John Gilligan recently named David Leahy of Cleveland, Louis Goldman of Dayton, Bernice Mackenzie of Canton, Mary Yates of Cleveland and Richard Rust of Cincinnati to the commission to operate the lottery, authorized by voters in November.

Meanwhile, a state senator said Monday the lottery should be operated from Columbus because of its centralized location.

"Why should some citizens be forced to drive five or six hours to conduct business with a state agency when that agency could be within a three-hour drive of nearly all Ohio citizens?" asked Sen. Donald L. Woodland, D-16 Columbus.

Some northeastern Ohio legislators have been trying to get the lottery office located in Cleveland, giving as one reason the availability of computer equipment.

But Woodland said Columbus has "some of the most sophisticated computer equipment in the world."

custodian of fuel surveys is the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), which also administers crop programs.

A spokesman said Monday, however, that other agencies also may be asked to contribute data, which then can be used to show an over-all view of the energy crunch on farmers.

In a report made public Monday, the ASCS said surveys last week showed gasoline and diesel fuel supplies were "tight to critical" in many states where field work was still under way. Officials said scattered cases were reported from California, Texas, Nebraska, Tennessee, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, South Carolina and Maine.

Some farmers also reported they had used all their fuel allocations for 1973 by November, the report said. Those reports came from Illinois, Nebraska, South Carolina and Maryland.

The report said the administration's mandatory allocation program for diesel and other middle-distillate fuels, which began Nov. 1, "continues to cause confusion among suppliers" and has resulted in delayed or reduced deliveries to farmers.

Officials noted that the Office of Petroleum Allocation recently issued advisory notices to the oil industry in an effort to improve the situation.

"However, these notices seem to filter slowly through the petroleum industry, and distributors of farm fuels often hesitate to provide additional fuel to farmers until they receive instructions through company channels," the report said.

The snarls in getting adequate fuels to farmers this fall has prompted some members of Congress to call for more priority for agricultural energy.

Demo Candidate Raps Gilligan

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Ohio says the incumbent, John J. Gilligan, "may well have destroyed" the state party.

James D. Nolan of Cleveland accused Gilligan in a statement of bossism by stacking the party committee which will screen candidates for state and local offices. The screening committee plans to endorse candidates for office.

"Gilligan's bossism will utterly destroy the opportunity for any Democrat to be elected next year in all state elections," Nolan said.

The screening committee met Saturday in Columbus.

Logan Elm Reinstates Title I Reading Program

A revised allocation of Title I funds allowed the Logan Elm Board of Education to reinstate the reading program of last year. Among the items for approval at the regular monthly meeting of the board Monday night was the re-employment of one full-time teacher in the Title I reading program and the promotion of the part-time teacher to full time.

The district will receive 90 per cent of the 1973 allocation of funds for the fiscal year of 1974 and will operate the same program as last year. The total funds available through Title I for the district is $39,791.04. At the beginning of the year, the board was forced to cut the reading program by one and one half teachers because of a cutback in the federal funds.

Lunch prices will be raised after school resumes in January. The new price scale will be teachers, 60 cents; students grades seven through 12, 45 cents; students grades one through six, 40 cents.

Milk prices from the Blue Ribbon Dairy supplier to the board were increased from eight cents to nine cents. The board through government reimbursement is still able to sell the milk to the students for five cents by absorbing the extra costs in the lunch program.

Under employment, the board approved hiring Lavona Holbrook as a custodial aide and Mary Beth Stevens as a substitute bus driver.

Logan Elm Classroom Teachers Association representative Nancy

Beery was granted permission to attend the Ohio Education Association convention Dec. 13-14. Ms. Beery will be the official delegate to the convention to be held in Columbus.

Approval was granted for the clerk and superintendent to attend an unemployment compensation seminar Dec. 10, in Columbus at the Marriott Inn.

Superintendent John Henn reported to the board concerning the parent-teacher conference day which was Nov. 2. The report showed an overall improvement on the part of the parents from last year's conferences. A total of 484 conferences were held. Laurelville reported 111 conferences; Salt Creek 43, Pickaway, 92; Washington, 94; McDowell Exchange, 118; Logan Elm High School, 18. Eight conferences were held with the district administrators.

The annual teacher's survey will be conducted in January this year instead of March. The survey is a preliminary measure to see how many of the teachers in the district are planning to return to their jobs next year.

Superintendent Henn reported to the board on the present energy crisis. Prof Wants To Redraw U.S. Map

WASHINGTON (AP) — A California professor thinks the borders of the 48 contiguous states are badly drawn and proposes instead a country of 38 brand new states.

G. Etzel Percy, a geography professor at California State University, Los Angeles, estimates that the savings in the cost of state government alone would amount to $4.6 billion yearly — about $100 for each citizen.

"stars Fell on Talladega," "El Dorando, Here I Come," "Carry Me Back to Old Chesapeake," "My Old Cumberland Home," "Back Home Again in Wabash," "Deep in the Heart of Alamo."

As an article in the current issue of The Smithsonian magazine notes, the odds are against the idea even though it is logical.

"To begin with," it says, there would be so much hot air from politicians of all parties that the entire climate would be threatened ... The chief obstacle to such schemes is that people just don't like change."

Percy has outlined his plan in a book, "A Thirty-Eight State U.S.A.," published by Plycon Press and summarized in the Smithsonian article. The 38 new states would be much more nearly the same size; as it is now, Alaska is 483 times bigger than Rhode Island.

Many state boundaries were set up along rivers; others used such arbitrary boundaries as lines of latitude and longitude. Thus in many cases logical areas of community interest were ignored, Percy says.

His plan would include major metropolitan areas within one state. For example, his new state of Hudson would comprise part of New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and southern New York, with New York City in its center. Chicago would be in the middle of the new state of Dearborn.

Alaska would be divided into Seward and Kodiak; Hawaii's borders would remain unchanged but arbitrarily it would be renamed Kilaua.

The new names were chosen with the help of a poll of geography students. The only present ones retained, and in revised form, would be Carolina and Dakota.

Percy figures the saving in state government costs would be possible because about 25 per cent of such costs are fixed, regardless of a state's size or population. Reducing the total would thus reduce the over-all cost.

Despite the natural resistance to change, the Smithsonian says, things are changing — direct telephone dialing, probably a switch to the metric system and a cashless society. Perhaps the map could be redrawn at the same time, the article says, adding:

"For a brief period, everyone would be utterly confused about everything and then, one hopes, we would emerge all at once into a new era of efficiency and abiding clarity."

Supervisors Attend Program

Three employees from U.S.S. Chemicals have completed Unit I of Wittenberg University's Management Development Program.

Philip Beard, mold line foreman; Al Deckard, maintenance supervisor; and Charles A. Harrison, material handling general foreman attended the week-long program which concentrated on management competency.

Blast Rips Office Suite; 2 Injured

NEW YORK (AP) — A suite of offices used by a number of small political groups was heavily damaged by an explosion Monday night and two occupants were injured.

Police said the explosion that knocked out walls of the third floor suite at 150 Fifth Avenue between 20th and 21st Streets apparently was caused by a bomb placed behind a radiator in the hallway.

Four persons were in the office at the time, and two were taken to Columbus Hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

Principal occupants of the office are the U.S. Committee for Justice to Latin American Prisoners and the Political Rights Defense Fund.

The office also is used by the Committee for a Democratic Election Law and the Women's National Abortion Action Council, and as an answering service for the New York Council for a Sane Nuclear Policy.

Frank Grinnon, of the U.S. Committee for Justice to Latin American Prisoners, suggested that the explosion might be an attempt to "intimidate" his group and keep the committee from holding a planned protest demonstration Wednesday against the Chilean junta.

He said the other main occupant, the Political Rights Defense Fund, was bringing suit against the Nixon administration "for political crimes" related to Watergate.

Tobacco Prices Still On Upside

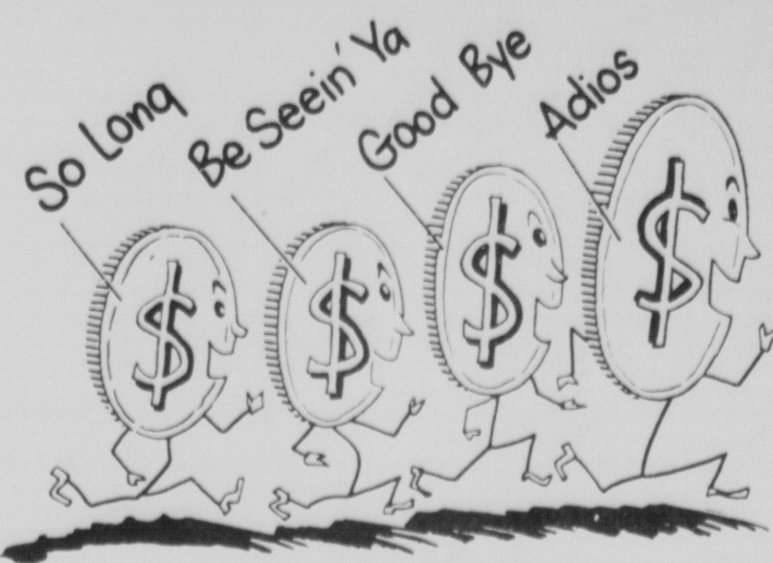

RIPLEY, Ohio (AP) — Burley tobacco brought an average price of $95.41 per hundred pounds Monday.

Farmers sold 446,666 pounds for a total of $426,183.82.

More than 100 baskets brought a record $98, auction officials said.

Sales continue today in the second week of sales.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

One of several proposals designed to help the country through the energy crisis is the lowering of speed limits on the nation's highways. Several studies have shown a reduction in speed from 70 miles per hour (the maximum on many highways) to 55 miles per hour results in a fuel savings of approximately 25 per cent for passenger cars.

With the oil companies directed to concentrate on home heating oil instead of gasoline production and the possibility of gas rationing looming more ominously than ever, the need for any and all efforts such as this to conserve gas becomes all the more imperative. Consequently, the House Public Works Committee recently reported legislation to the Congress which would set a maximum speed of 55 miles per hour on all public highways now having a speed limit of 55 or higher as of November 1, 1973. This is the first House action on any of the President's requested emergency legislation.

Two very important aspects of this legislation are its application of this limit to all motor vehicles including trucks and buses and its imposition as a temporary measure expiring either when the fuel shortage ends or on June 30, 1975, whichever comes first.

But over and above the saving of fuel, the reduction of speed limits to 55 miles per hour will also mean a significant saving of lives which might otherwise be lost in high speed traffic accidents. According to a National Safety Council study, the chances of being killed when involved in an accident double with each 10 miles per hour increase in speed over 50 miles per hour. In fact, it is estimated that nearly 5,000 lives could be saved each year with the proposed slower speed limits. As the author of the newly enacted Highway Safety Act of 1973, I am strongly behind any measure with such life-saving benefits.

Some controversy has developed, however, over whether diesel powered vehicles such as trucks and buses which operate more efficiently at higher speeds should be exempted from the lower speed limits. Certainly, reduced limits will create some economic and scheduling problems for these transportation industries, but in view of the dangers of exceptions to the lower limits, these consequences must be accepted as part of the handshakes all Americans must endure if we are to overcome our energy shortage problems.

My primary concern is that a difference in speeds permitting trucks and buses to travel at higher limits than passenger vehicles would pose serious traffic safety problems. One study indicates that there may be significant increase in accident exposure when this differential is as low as two to three miles per hour. For example, a dual speed limit would tend to increase the number of passing attempts and thereby intensify the potential for accidents from such maneuvers, particularly on two-lane highways. On these roads, where most fatal traffic accidents occur, a passenger car traveling at a lower speed limit would present an obstacle to a truck or bus moving at a faster rate. On multi-lane highways, these vehicles would also tend to travel more often in the express or high speed lanes. In the rain, the resultant splash and spray from wet pavements would be thrown against the driver's side of passenger car windshields causing another potential safety hazard.

Furthermore, I do not see how the rest of the American driving public, forced to alter their own driving schedules and plans by reduced speed regulations, would be very willing to cooperate in a program limiting them to 50 miles per hour but allowing the large commercial vehicles to travel at 55 miles per hour. In addition to the safety hazards created by a two-tier or differential speed limit, if a program to conserve energy is to be successful, it must have maximum public support and cooperation. In my judgment, to permit trucks and buses to travel faster than private automobiles would erode public support for the program. Therefore, it was at my insistence that the Committee reported legislation establishing a uniform speed limit for motor vehicles. Thus, we would have the most equitable and safe solution to the problem.

State Tax Returns To Be Mailed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — After Christmas, state workers plan to rush to the post office with four million individual income tax returns.

If they're late, it could cost Ohio and eventually the taxpayers $300,000.

The Ohio Department of Taxation wants to mail the returns after Christmas but before higher postage rates take effect on Jan. 1.

"We don't want to mail the returns during the Christmas rush because they will probably get lost," said Stan Spaulding, department spokesman.

"So the returns will be mailed in the days after Christmas."

Spaulding added, "They will be out before Jan. 1. We want to make the deadline."

The cost of mailing the 16-page

booklets will be $640,000, the same as in 1972, he said. If the deadline is not met, he said, the cost would go up $300,000.

He said the entire postage fee must be paid when the forms are taken to the post office.

The U.S. Postal Service plans to charge two cents more an ounce for bulk mailings after the first of the year.

Spaulding said the income tax form has been changed from last year's publication. He said it matches the federal return and makes handling the state copy easier.

Last year, taxpayers received an envelope containing a small instruction booklet, forms and a return envelope.

This year, Ohioans can expect only a booklet with a return envelope inside.

The booklet, printed by National Graphics Corp. at a cost of $260,000, will contain instructions, two copies each of the short form and the long form and all the necessary tax tables.

Spaulding said changes have been in the booklet's instructions to make them easier for the reader. He said many valid suggestions were made by taxpayers.

The 8½-by-11-inch booklet has been printed with blue lettering and with some red to emphasize directions. The front-page of the booklet will carry an address label, which can be peeled off and affixed to the return envelope.

The deadline for the returns is April 15, same as the federal income tax.

Ohio Oil Boom Seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio State University researcher said he has information from outer space that oil companies should sink some test wells in southern Ohio.

Hydrogeologist Walter Pettyjohn said pictures taken by the orbiting Earth Resources Technology Satellite (ERTS) indicates numerous reservoirs of oil and gas exist beneath the surface.

The circular features of the reservoirs have appeared in Muskingum, Ross and Jackson counties, he said, "and I'm sure there are many more."

"I have no idea if there are great quantities in these reservoirs. But from a geological point of view, it looks favorable," he said.

Pettyjohn found the features while doing a study of strip mining in five Ohio counties using ERTS. The counties are Tuscarawas, Coshocton, Guernsey, Muskingum and Belmont. However, his photographs have covered all of Ohio.

Pettyjohn said, "I would like the oil companies to drill and see what's there, but they like to play it close to the vest."

He said he has talked to officials of Shell Oil Co. about such a project, but added that the company has made no decision.

The potential reserves take on greater significance during the current Mideast crisis in which the Arab Countries have shut off oil to the United States and made the shortage of energy in this country more serious.

"The oil companies have been spending so much money in the Mideast and Southeast Asia that I would rather have them drill here in Ohio," Pettyjohn said. "This is where we live and where we could use the income."

"I would like to see them put money in southeastern Ohio rather than Southeast Asia."

If sizeable reserves of fuel were found in the state, he said, that would limit the effect of a foreign oil boycott, he said.

Pettyjohn said there are indications the oil companies will rely more on data gathered by the earth-orbiting satellites and may decide to pursue the potential in southern Ohio.

"I think pictures taken by the satellite are important from an economic point of view," he said. "They can detect where potential oil, gas, and mineral deposits are beneath the ground."

State Tax Returns To Be Mailed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — After Christmas, state workers plan to rush to the post office with four million individual income tax returns.

If they're late, it could cost Ohio and eventually the taxpayers $300,000.

The Ohio Department of Taxation wants to mail the returns after Christmas but before higher postage rates take effect on Jan. 1.

"We don't want to mail the returns during the Christmas rush because they will probably get lost," said Stan Spaulding, department spokesman.

"So the returns will be mailed in the days after Christmas."

Spaulding added, "They will be out before Jan. 1. We want to make the deadline."

The cost of mailing the 16-page

booklets will be $640,000, the same as in 1972, he said. If the deadline is not met, he said, the cost would go up $300,000.

He said the entire postage fee must be paid when the forms are taken to the post office.

The U.S. Postal Service plans to charge two cents more an ounce for bulk mailings after the first of the year.

Spaulding said the income tax form has been changed from last year's publication. He said it matches the federal return and makes handling the state copy easier.

Last year, taxpayers received an envelope containing a small instruction booklet, forms and a return envelope.

This year, Ohioans can expect only a booklet with a return envelope inside.

The booklet, printed by National Graphics Corp. at a cost of $260,000, will contain instructions, two copies each of the short form and the long form and all the necessary tax tables.

Spaulding said changes have been in the booklet's instructions to make them easier for the reader. He said many valid suggestions were made by taxpayers.

The 8 1/2-by-11-inch booklet has been printed with blue lettering and with some red to emphasize directions. The front-page of the booklet will carry an address label, which can be peeled off and affixed to the return envelope.

The deadline for the returns is April 15, same as the federal income tax.

Students Enjoy Yesteryear Day

CANDLEMAKING—Miss Dehl Renich shows McDowell students how candle dipping was performed in earlier days during the "This Is The Way It Was" Day Oct. 31.

The enthusiasm for learning was really awakened as the staff and students of McDowell Exchange School of the Logan Elm District participated in a "This Is The Way It Was" Day, October 31.

The entire school day was used to acquaint the youngsters with skills, crafts, and special interests of bygone days.

Many resource people donated their time and exhibited their special crafts and skills to the students.

Some of the almost-forgotten crafts demonstrated were quilting by Mrs. Herbert Southward and Mrs. Milton Griest. Mrs. Jean Howes kept the students interested in the art of weaving while Mrs. David Jordan explained and showed carding and spinning wool with a drop spindle.

One of the more popular activities for the boys was the muzzle loading rifle display by Ronald Driesbach. Donald McBeth interested his spectators by showing tree grafting.

Special indoor kitchen crafts were exhibited by Mrs. Berkeley Faulkner Sr., who tempted all appetites with freshly churned butter and Mrs. Darcy Branson whose special talents at breadmaking fascinated her audience.

Candle dipping was shown and explained by Miss Dehl Renick, while Dean Barr transported the students back in time with farming methods, tools and techniques of an earlier time.

While these interesting displays were being observed, much activity was also taking place out of doors. Jim Fletcher discussed horse safety and demonstrated horse shoeing to a fascinated group.

To tempt our tastebuds, the fragrant aroma of homemade applebutter filled the air as Miss Mary Barclay and Mr. and Mrs. James Roe stirred and prepared this delicacy. Bob Bowers demonstrated a hand-operated cider press.

Following lunch the students were treated to a fashion show depicting clothing of yesteryear. Students participated as models wearing outfits from colonial days, through the "Gay 90's" and up to the "Roaring 20's." The fashion show was held in the auditorium, narrated by Mrs. George Hamrick.

Story-telling absorbed the students' interest as Oakley Leist, Miss Renich, Mrs. Faulkner, and Dr. W. L. Sprous recalled family life, social activities, and farm living of another era. Their reminiscences of life at an earlier and slower pace impressed the young people of the space age.

Strains of "down home" music filled the gym as students participated in a square dance activity. Charles Cave and Kevin Driesbach McDowell Exchange Students, treated the students to a folk concert with tunes

Society Maintains High Standards

By DAWN REDMAN

The Pickaway County National Honor Society was established in 1950. Logan Elm joined in 1960. Each member must have certain qualities and uphold them, as stated in the National Honor Society pledge:

"I hereby pledge myself to maintain as high a personal standard of scholarship, service, leadership, and character as in me lies the power to maintain and to do my best to promote the ideals of the National Honor Society in the local schools of Pickaway County, and among the students hereof."

The officers of the Logan Elm chapter of the National Honor Society are: Debbie Born, president; Tom Shaw, vice-president; Susan Mayberry, secretary; Creagh Humphrey, treasurer; Becky Throckmorton, chaplain; Dawn Redman, sargeant-at-arms; Jackie Jones, reporter; Rita Binkley and Bonnie Bolender, student of month committee.

Other members are Sherry Dietzel, Terasa Karshner, Patty Kibler, Jayne McAfee, Lynette Mundy, and Debbie Payne. The advisor is Jean Mills.

The society sponsors the student of the month election and is now making plans for the Tapping Service. As a money making project, the members sold tickets to the Ohio All-Star Shrine Bowl.

The County Officers elected officers from the three schools. Tom Shaw was chosen County sargeant-at-arms and Becky Throckmorton as county chaplain. The officers are planning the entertainment and the dinner for the County Banquet to be held at Logan Elm this year.

School Organizes Future Homemakers

Logan Elm has started a Future Homemakers of America Organization this year. Our officers for 1973-74 are: Twila Thompson, president; Karen Adams, vice-president; Karen Ewing, secretary; Cindy DeLong, treasurer; Chris DeLong, news reporter; Sharon Thomas, historian.

The FHA initiation was held in the Logan Elm High School cafeteria Nov. 1. At the meeting all new members were told to wear a dress inside out, their hair in three pigtails, a boot and hose on one leg, and a sandle and sock on the other leg to school on the following Monday.

The outlook for this year is child-care. The FHA meetings are to be held the third Thursday of every month.

She is undecided as to her future school plans.

Court Rejects Teacher Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to interfere with a Eastern Kentucky University's dismissal of a nontenured teacher. The school dismissed the teacher because it disagreed with her teaching methods and philosophy.

With Justice William O. Douglas dissenting, the Supreme Court let stand a U.S. Circuit Court decision rejecting Dr. Phyllis B. Betrick's claim that her right to free speech was violated when Eastern Kentucky University officials fired her because she strayed from traditional teaching methods in her English composition and drama classes.

Lawyers for the Richmond, Ky., school called Dr. Betrick's claim an "absurd proposition" and said, "In essence, she espouses a purported rule of law that would reduce school systems to mere paymasters utterly devoid of authority to exercise any judgment with regard to the competence of nontenured faculty members."

Debbie Born NHS President

In the spotlight this month is the newly-elected National Honor Society president, Debbie Born. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Born, Route 5. Besides being president of NHS, Debbie is active as vice-president of Teens for Christ, secretary of her local church ECY, and is in Elm Log Staff, choir, a member of the Campus Church, and even finds time to work at J. Born Floors.

Deb says she is really looking forward to tapping new members into NHS next spring.

She is undecided as to her future school plans.

Court Rejects Teacher Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to interfere with a Eastern Kentucky University's dismissal of a nontenured teacher. The school dismissed the teacher because it disagreed with her teaching methods and philosophy.

With Justice William O. Douglas dissenting, the Supreme Court let stand a U.S. Circuit Court decision rejecting Dr. Phyllis B. Betrick's claim that her right to free speech was violated when Eastern Kentucky University officials fired her because she strayed from traditional teaching methods in her English composition and drama classes.

Lawyers for the Richmond, Ky., school called Dr. Hetrick's claim an "absurd proposition" and said, "In essence, she espouses a purported rule of law that would reduce school systems to mere paymasters utterly devoid of authority to exercise any judgment with regard to the competence of nontenured faculty members."

Columbia Gas announces a big GAIN for the consumer.

GAIN is short for Gas Appliance Improvement Network. It's an organized effort by 66 gas utilities and many co-operating manufacturers to make gas appliances even better than they are. And Columbia Gas is a charter member.

The idea is to feed back data on product performance to the manufacturer so that appliance problems can be eliminated.

If, for example, a Columbia Gas appliance service man finds an unusual repair situation, he will fill out a GAIN report. And Columbia Gas will forward it to the factory.

Then, if there is a design or production problem, the manufacturer can correct it. So everyone benefits.

You might think that appliance performance is none of our business. But to Columbia Gas, anything that makes your life simpler, easier or safer with natural gas is our business.

COLUMBIA GAS Gas is precious, pure energy... use it wisely.

All-American College Grid Team Chosen

NEW YORK (AP) — The first freshman in 29 years — tailback Tony Dorsett of Pittsburgh — and three repeaters — Randy Gradishar and John Hicks of Ohio State and Richard Wood of Southern California — have been named to The Associated Press All-America college football team for 1973.

The 5-foot-11, 175-pound Dorsett finished as the nation's second leading rusher with 1,586 yards in 11 games as Pitt posted its first winning record in 10 years and first bowl bid since 1956.

The last freshman to win first-team honors was fullback Doc Blanchard of Army in 1944. Blanchard was an All-American three times but graduated from West Point in three years under an accelerated war-time course of study and was not on hand to play as a senior.

Joining Dorsett in the backfield are fullback Roosevelt Leaks of Texas and tailback John Cappelletti of Penn State, who finished fourth and fifth in the national rushing statistics, and quarterback David Jaynes of Kansas, who set six Big Eight Conference passing records.

The AP All-America team will appear on the Bob Hope Special on NBC-TV Dec. 9 at 9 p.m., EST.

Besides the backs and offensive tackle Hicks, the offensive team consists of wide receiver Lynn Swann of Southern California, tight end Andre Tillman of Texas Tech, tackle Buddy Brown of Alabama, guards Tyler Lafauci of Louisiana State and Bill Yoest of North Carolina State and center Bill Wyman of Texas.

Joining linebackers Gradishar and Wood on the defensive team are ends Pat Donovan of Stanford and Randy White of Maryland, tackles John Dutton of Nebraska and Dave Gallagher of Michigan, middle guard Lucious Selmon of Oklahoma, linebacker Rod Shoate of Oklahoma and secondary men Jimmy Allen of UCLA, Artimus Parker of Southern California and Mike Townsend of Notre Dame.

The team is composed of freshman Dorsett, 16 seniors and five juniors — Wood, Leaks, Donovan, White and Shoate.

Dorsett is unquestionably the greatest freshman running back in history. His 1,586 yards smashed the previous best by a freshman — 1,291 by New Mexico State's Po James in 1968. His 265 yards against Northwestern in his third varsity game was the best performance ever by a freshman and his 209 yards against nationally ranked Notre Dame were the most ever allowed by a Notre Dame team.

Penn State Coach Joe Paterno calls Cappelletti "the best player I've ever been around."

The 6-1, 215-pounder carried 286 times for 1,522 yards and 16 touchdowns and also caught 22 passes for 207 yards and a touchdown.

Leaks, a bone-crunching 220-pounder, led Texas to its sixth consecutive Southwest Conference championship with a league record 1,415 yards, including a brilliant 342-yard game against Southern Methodist, only eight yards shy of the national one-game mark.

Jaynes completed 172 of 330 passes for 2,131 yards and 13 touchdowns and was intercepted only nine times, one of the best interception ratios ever. His finest performance came in a 28-27 loss to nationally ranked Tennessee when he connected on 35 of 58 passes for 394 yards. He holds every Kansas passing mark but one.

Southern Cal Coach John McKay calls receiver-kick returner Swann "as valuable to us as Johnny Rodgers was to Nebraska. In our offense, he is called on to run, block and catch passes and he is excellent at all three."

Tight end Tillman is a 6-5, 230-pounder equally adept at blocking or receiving.

The offensive interior linemen — Hicks, Brown, Lafauci, Yoest and Wyman — are great blockers. In fact, Ohio State's Woody Hayes calls Hicks "the best offensive lineman I have ever coached," including Hall of Famer Jim Parker.

The most notorious names on the defensive unit are Selmon, teammate Shoate and Wood.

Coach Barry Switzer calls Selmon "the greatest down lineman we've ever had here, and we've had some really great ones." Shoate, according to Switzer, "looks like one of those guided missiles — swoosh!...and he's got the ballcarrier. He's intelligent and a great open-field tackler. And he's mean." Shoate also is the fastest man on the Oklahoma team in a 40-yard dash.

Wood called defensive signals as a sophomore for Southern Cal's national champs last season and McKay termed him "the best linebacker I've had at this stage of his development. He has great strength and quickness and is fast as most backs."

Townsend of Notre Dame was the nation's leading interceptor last year. This season, teams avoided his area but against Pitt, for example, he broke up two sure touchdown passes in the end zone and tackled Dorsett after a 65-yard run to save still another score.

Parker of USC topped the Pacific-8 Conference with eight interceptions, making him one of the nation's leaders. He returned the eight steals for 100 yards and he holds the conference career record of 20 interceptions.

Grid Records

A former Ashville resident, David Foreman of West Lafayette, was named most valuable player on the Ridgewood High School football team for his outstanding performances on the gridiron this fall.

The classy 155-pound senior halfback made them rewrite the record book as he rushed for 1500 yards for the season, tallied eight touchdowns in one game, rambled for an overwhelming 339 yards in a single contest. He scored 158 points for the season.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence N. Foreman, West Lafayette, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence S. Foreman of Ashville.

Big Ten Leaders

CHICAGO (AP)—The big controversy over the Big Ten selecting Ohio State to represent the conference in the Rose Bowl game was abated Monday by the policy making Faculty Representatives who opened their winter meetings.

The Faculty Representatives gave Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke a vote of confidence and indirectly reprimanded Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler.

Ohio State Only Loser In Big Ten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If this is supposed to be a down season for the Big Ten in college basketball, somebody better take another reading.

As a result of Monday night's results, the Big Ten is 13-2 against interconference foes, and counting. Illinois, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Purdue all came through with victories Monday night with Ohio State being the only loser.

Ohio State lost to Notre Dame, but that was expected since Notre Dame is ranked among the nation's best.

Illinois, the only Big Ten loser over the weekend, made amends with a 99-78 victory over Tulane. Wisconsin defeated California-Davis 97-53, Northwestern edged Rollins 73-69 and Purdue rolled over St. Joseph 103-61. Notre Dame defeated Ohio State 76-72.

Illinois battled from behind and Jeff Dawson with 20 points and Rick Schmidt with 19 led the way to victory.

Marcus McCoy scored 18 points in leading Wisconsin to its second victory of the season. The Badgers broke to an 18-0 lead and then had to come back to clinch the game.

Freshman Willie Williams scored 30 points in Northwestern's triumph over Rollins. The Wildcats are 2-0 under Tex Winter.

Purdue produced in double figures again with Frank Kendrick scoring 22 points.

Three Big Ten teams will be in action tonight with Iowa hosting Drake, Furman playing at Minnesota and Michigan at Toledo.

Former Ashville Resident Sets Grid Records

A former Ashville resident, David Foreman of West Lafayette, was named most valuable player on the Ridgewood High School football team for his outstanding performances on the gridiron this fall.

The classy 155-pound senior halfback made them rewrite the record book as he rushed for 1500 yards for the season, tallied eight touchdowns in one game, ramboled for an overwhelming 339 yards in a single contest. He scored 158 points for the season.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence N. Foreman, West Lafayette, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence S. Foreman of Ashville.

Big Ten Leaders Support Duke

CHICAGO (AP)—The big controversy over the Big Ten selecting Ohio State to represent the conference in the Rose Bowl game was abated Monday by the policy making Faculty Representatives who opened their winter meetings.

The Faculty Representatives gave Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke a vote of confidence and indirectly reprimanded Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler.

Ohio State Only Loser In Big Ten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If this is supposed to be a down season for the Big Ten in college basketball, somebody better take another reading.

As a result of Monday night's results, the Big Ten is 13-2 against interconference foes, and counting.

Illinois, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Purdue all came through with victories Monday night with Ohio State being the only loser.

Ohio State lost to Notre Dame, but that was expected since Notre Dame is ranked among the nation's best.

Illinois, the only Big Ten loser over the weekend, made amends with a 99-78 victory over Tulane. Wisconsin defeated California-Davis 97-53, Northwestern edged Rollins 73-69 and Purdue rolled over St. Joseph 103-81. Notre Dame defeated Ohio State 76-72.

Illinois battled from behind and Jeff Dawson with 20 points and Rick Schmidt with 19 led the way to victory.

Marcus McCoy scored 18 points in leading Wisconsin to its second victory of the season. The Badgers broke to an 18-0 lead and then had to come back to clinch the game.

Freshman Willie Williams scored 30 points in Northwestern's triumph over Rollins. The Wildcats are 2-0 under Tex Winter.

Purdue produced in double figures again with Frank Kendrick scoring 22 points.

Three Big Ten teams will be in action tonight with Iowa hosting Drake, Furman playing at Minnesota and Michigan at Toledo.

AAA Ohio All-Star Squad Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ted Bell of Youngstown Mooney and Stan Johnson of Sandusky are The Associated Press Ohio Class AAA high school football Players of the Year.

The two, highly sought by major colleges across the nation, lead The AP's 1973 allstate selections, picked on the recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Coach of the Year honors went to Don Bucci of Youngstown Mooney, whose team won all but one game and won the Ohio Class AAA playoff title.

Bucci barely edged Joe Novak of poll champion Warren Western Reserve, Jerry Faust of Cincinnati Moeller and Stu Stearns of Bowling Green.

John Woodrow and Jay Mossbarger of Miami Trace High School received honorable mention on the star-studded squad.

Bell, a 6-foot-2, 190-pound speedster, rushed for more than 4,000 yards in his career and is considered the finest back ever in the Youngstown area.

Bell played both ways for the playoff champions as a halfback. He piled up more than 2,000 grounds yards this year, including one game of 360 yards against Austinstown Fitch.

Sandusky officials consider the 6-4, 250-pound Johnson as the best player ever for that school although he plays the unheralded defensive position of middle guard.

The only first team repeater from the 1972 squad is Jeff Logan, a 5-10, 181-pound halfback from North Canton Hoover.

The 1973 squad features twins on the first team. The Wintersville pair of 6-4, 225-pound center Terry Kettlewell and 6-3, 215-pound Larry Kettlewell a linebacker, is high on the college power's recruiting lists.

Named to the first team offensive line were ends Ken Bush of Canton McKinley and Dave Adkins of Xenia, tackles Bob Snyder of Steubenville and Greg Storer of Cincinnati Moeller, guards Scott Baker of Willoughby South and Larry Mallory of Warren Western Reserve and Terry Kettlewell at center.

Joining Johnson on the defensive line were ends Kevin Blizman of Troy and Ed Becker of Cuyahoga Falls Waish and tackles Joe Ertel of Cincinnati Moeller and Aaron Brown of Warren Western Reserve.

The linebackers were Andy Schmidt of Upper Arlington, Roger Andrachik of Cleveland St. Ignatius, Marty Murray of Warren Western Reserve and Larry Kettlewell. The backs consisted of John Harper of Toledo Woodward, Willie Williams of Dayton Dunbar and Dave Lockshaw of Youngstown Mooney.

Dolphins Top Steelers

MIAMI (AP) — "We caught a team that was frothing at the mouth," said Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll after the Miami Dolphins bolted to a 30-3 half-time lead on five pass interceptions before emerging with a 30-26 National Football League victory over the Steelers Monday night.

The loss was Pittsburgh's third in a row and dropped the Steelers into a tie with Cleveland and Cincinnati for first place in the American Football Conference's Central Division.

Pittsburgh and Cincinnati have 8-4 records with Cleveland 7-3-2. All have .667 percentages.

Four interceptions by Miami safety Dick Anderson proved decisive in the nationally televised game. He returned two of them 27 and 38 yards, respectively, for touchdowns. He also took a third 31 yards to the Steeler three to set up a two-yard scoring pass from quarterback Bob Griese to tight end Jim Mandich.

Cleveland Indians Trade Johnson

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians have traded relief pitcher Jerry Johnson to Houston of the National League for Cecil Upshaw, also a relief pitcher.

Upshaw was acquired by Houston in a trade with Atlanta and had a 2-4 record last season, with a 4.93 earned run average.
Johnson was 4-6 with a 6.18 ERA.

Kick the habit.

Bad habits are as easy to get into as they are hard to get out of.

Like calling directory assistance when you don't absolutely have to. You try it once or twice. And before you know it you're hooked.

After a while you don't think twice about picking up the phone and asking us to find phone numbers that, three times out of four, you could find yourself. In the phone book.

And people are abusing directory assistance now like never before. (One customer called us 1,460 times in one month alone!)

The trouble is, calling directory assistance needlessly ends up costing you money.

Because phone information isn't free. The extra operators we need to service your extra calls cost us money. A cost that shows up on your phone bill. As part of the monthly service charge. Last year millions of consumer dollars were wasted on unnecessary information requests. And all of those dollars came out of your pocket. If that doesn't make you mad enough to cut it out altogether, isn't it enough to make you cut it down?

Irish 3rd In Ratings

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Fighting Irish of Notre

Dame climbed into third place in The Associated Press ratings today, setting up a super Sugar Bowl meeting on

New Year's Eve between the nation's two highest ranking eligible bowl teams.

Notre Dame will meet No. 1-ranked Alabama in the Sugar Bowl in a game that probably will determine college football's national champion for 1973.

Alabama helped close out the regular season Saturday with a 35-0 trouncing of Auburn. The Crimson Tide received 34 first-place votes and 1,090 points from the 58 sports writers and broadcasters across the country who participated in the final regular season balloting.

The national champion will be determined in a poll following the Jan. 1 bowl games.

Oklahoma held onto second place with a 45-18 wallowing of Oklahoma State. The Sooners received 16 first-place votes and 1,023 points as they continued their season-long role of spoilers.

Although ineligible for a bowl game because of recruiting violations, Oklahoma soundly defeated both Cotton Bowl teams — Texas and Nebraska — tied Southern California's Rose Bowl-bound defending national champions and beat two other bowl teams — Missouri and Kansas.

Notre Dame, fifth a week ago, earned two first-place votes and 810 points after closing out its first perfect regular season since 1949 by crushing Miami of Florida 44-0.

The Irish climbed past idle Ohio State and Michigan, which each slipped a notch to fourth and fifth, respectively. The former received two first-place votes and 799 points while Michigan got one first-place ballot and 780 points.

The remaining three first-place votes went to unbeaten Penn State, which stayed in sixth place with 679 points.

Southern California held onto seventh place while Texas moved up from ninth to eighth replacing Louisiana State, UCLA rose from 10th to ninth and Arizona State climbed from 11th to 10th.

Tulane's 14-0 triumph over LSU dropped the Tigers from eighth to 13th while allowing Tulane to re-enter the Top Twenty. The Green Wave is 17th.

The Second Ten consists of Texas Tech, Nebraska, LSU, Houston, Miami of Ohio, North Carolina State, Tulane, Maryland, Kansas and Tennessee.

Last week, it was Arizona State, Texas Tech, Nebraska, Houston, Miami, N.C. State, Kansas, Maryland, Tennessee and Missouri.

The tides of the Bay of Fundy are the highest in the world, rising as much as 70 feet.

Notre Dame Tops Ohio State, 76-72

Baseball Meet Trades Center On Pitchers

By FRED ROTHENBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer
Dwight Clay led a furious Notre Dame rally Monday night which carried the eighth-ranked Fighting Irish to a 76-72 overtime victory over Ohio State in college basketball.

Clay sank his first crucial basket with seven seconds remaining in regulation time, tying the game at 67-67 and forcing the overtime. After the two schools traded field goals in the overtime, Clay scored again to put Notre Dame ahead for good.

In other college basketball action involving teams in the Top Twenty: sixth-ranked Providence clobbered St. Leo 84-44; seventh-ranked Marquette rolled over Portland 83-46; ninth-ranked Louisville trimmed 14th-ranked Houston 87-81 and Kansas upset 10th-ranked Kentucky 71-63.

Stanford knocked off San Francisco, No. 11, 63-61 in overtime; Arizona, No. 15, downed Colorado 91-76 and Jacksonville, No. 17, edged Oklahoma 66-64.

"I was just thinking about getting the ball into John Shumate," Clay said. "But they sagged on him so I shot. I just prayed the ball would go in."

When Ohio State wasn't ganging up on Shumate, he was ganging up on the Buckeyes as he led both teams with 25 points.

Marquette had little trouble with Portland, outscoring the Oregon school 22-2 early in the first half on its way to a 46-19 halftime lead as Maurice Lucas paved the way with 15 points and 11 rebounds. The only basket Portland could register during its scoring

Irish 3rd In Ratings

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports

The Fighting Irish of Notre

Dame climbed into third place in The Associated Press ratings today, setting up a super Sugar Bowl meeting on

New Year's Eve between the nation's two highest ranking eligible bowl teams.

Notre Dame will meet No. 1-ranked Alabama in the Sugar Bowl in a game that probably will determine college football's national champion for 1973.

Alabama helped close out the regular season Saturday with a 35-0 trouncing of Auburn. The Crimson Tide received 34 first-place votes and 1,090 points from the 58 sports writers and broadcasters across the country who participated in the final regular season balloting.

The national champion will be determined in a poll following the Jan. 1 bowl games.

Oklahoma held onto second place with a 45-18 walloping of Oklahoma State. The Sooners received 16 first-place votes and 1,023 points as they continued their season-long role of spoilers.

Although ineligible for a bowl game because of recruiting violations, Oklahoma soundly defeated both Cotton Bowl teams — Texas and Nebraska — tied Southern California's Rose Bowl-bound defending national champions and beat two other bowl teams — Missouri and Kansas.

Notre Dame, fifth a week ago, earned two first-place votes and 810 points after closing out its first perfect regular season since 1949 by crushing Miami of Florida 44-0.

The Irish climbed past idle Ohio State and Michigan, which each slipped a notch to fourth and fifth, respectively. The former received two first-place votes and 799 points while Michigan got one first-place ballot and 780 points.

The remaining three first-place votes went to unbeaten Penn State, which stayed in sixth place with 679 points.

Southern California held onto seventh place while Texas moved up from ninth to eighth replacing Louisiana State, UCLA rose from 10th to ninth and Arizona State climbed from 11th to 10th.

Tulane's 14-0 triumph over LSU dropped the Tigers from eighth to 13th while allowing Tulane to re-enter the Top Twenty. The Green Wave is 17th.

The Second Ten consists of Texas Tech, Nebraska, LSU, Houston, Miami of Ohio, North Carolina State, Tulane, Maryland, Kansas and Tennessee.

Last week, it was Arizona State, Texas Tech, Nebraska, Houston, Miami, N.C. State, Kansas, Maryland, Tennessee and Missouri.

Notre Dame Tops Ohio State, 76-72

By FRED ROTHENBERG
Associated Press
Sports Writer

Dwight Clay led a furious Notre Dame rally Monday night which carried the eighth-ranked Fighting Irish to a 76-72 overtime victory over Ohio State in college basketball.

Clay sank his first crucial basket with seven seconds remaining in regulation time, tying the game at 67-67 and forcing the overtime. After the two schools traded field goals in the overtime, Clay scored again to put Notre Dame ahead for good.

In other college basketball action involving teams in the Top Twenty: sixth-ranked Providence clobbered St. Leo 84-44; seventh-ranked Marquette rolled over Portland 83-46; ninth-ranked Louisville trimmed 14th-ranked Houston 87-81 and Kansas upset 10th-ranked Kentucky 71-63.

Stanford knocked off San Francisco, No. 11, 63-61 in overtime; Arizona, No. 15, downed Colorado 91-76 and Jacksonville, No. 17, edged Oklahoma 66-64.

"I was just thinking about getting the ball into John Shumate," Clay said. "But they sagged on him so I shot. I just prayed the ball would go in."

When Ohio State wasn't ganging up on Shumate, he was ganging up on the Buckeyes as he led both teams with 25 points.

Marquette had little trouble with Portland, outscoring the Oregon school 22-2 early in the first half on its way to a 46-19 halftime lead as Maurice Lucas paved the way with 15 points and 11 rebounds. The only basket Portland could register during its scoring drought was on a goaltending call.

Freshman Wesley Cox came off the bench late in the first half, pumped in 13 points before the intermission and added 10 more in the second half as Louisville held off Houston.

Houston's Maurice Presley and Louisville's Bill Butler shared scoring honors with 24 points apiece.

Offensive Line Praised

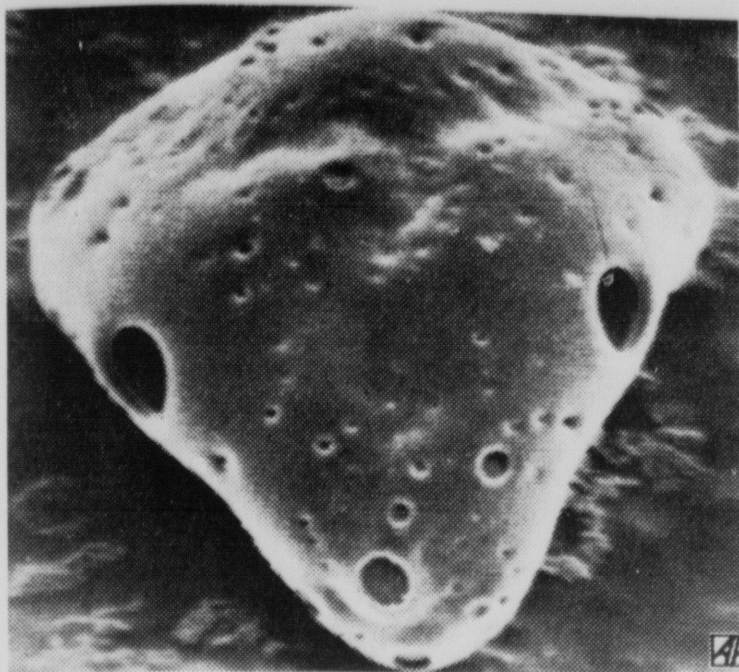

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—The "Forgotten Five" has finally arrived.

Take it from Mike Reid and Bill Bergey, the heart of the hard-hitting Cincinnati Bengals defense which stunned National Football League power Minnesota Sunday, credit goes where credit's due.

The offensive line, that's where.

That faceless front wall has labored in obscurity on the National Football League's youngest team.

—The Chicago White Sox received Mexican League right-handers Francisco Barrios and Manuel Lugo from the Jalisco club for infielder Rudy Hernandez, who moved from Iowa in the American Association to Mexico.
—The Astros traded Cecil Upshaw to the Cleveland Indians for Jerry Johnson in an exchange of relievers.
Pitching, which is theoretically the dominating factor in baseball, was the dominating commodity Monday. Every trade involved a pitcher — and the Phillies naturally thought they got a pretty good one.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Although the nation's economy may slow dramatically next year if the Arab oil cut-off continues, there probably won't be a reduction in business support for nationally-broadcast programs on public television.

That's the tentative word from Ward Chamberlin Jr., a senior vice president at the Public Broadcasting Service. He even says the possible business downturn might help public TV.

"It's really sheer speculation at this point, but it may be an advantage to us in a certain way," he said.

"There may be certain businesses that want to keep their names before the public in a certain way, yet still won't want to go into great big advertising programs on commercial television."

The "certain way" to which he referred is the corporate underwriting of national public TV programs, which he said totalled about $5 million this season, slightly above last season's corporate effort.

A corporation isn't allowed to advertise on public TV.

But when it helps underwrite PBS shows, the aid is noted in a brief announcement at the start and end of the program. It usually says "this program was made possible in part by" the corporation helping pick up the tab.

Major underwriters this year have included Exxon, Mobil, Eastman Kodak, IBM, Xerox, Bristol-Myers, 3-M, General Telephone and McDonalds. They helped pay for shows ranging from "Zoom" to "Theater in America."

YOU BORN TODAY are a vigorous, often brilliant worker; an inspiring influence, with creative ability, and gifted along many other lines. You face reality sturdily and philosophically. You have all the qualities needed for top-flight success and happiness and, once on the right path, do not mind obstacles, regarding them as interesting challenges. Your best field is business—especially in its most active areas—but you could also become a fine lawyer, writer, physician, journalist, statesman or diplomat. You could also shine in the entertainment field or in the world of sports. Birthdate of: Martin Van Buren, 8th Pres., U.S.A.; Walt Disney, film writer, producer.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Although the nation's economy may slow dramatically next year if the Arab oil cut-off continues, there probably won't be a reduction in business support for nationally-broadcast programs on public television.

That's the tentative word from Ward Chamberlin Jr., a senior vice president at the Public Broadcasting Service. He even says the possible business downturn might help public TV.

"It's really sheer speculation at this point, but it may be an advantage to us in a certain way," he said. "There may be certain businesses that want to keep their names before the public in a certain way, yet still won't want to go into great big advertising programs on commercial television."

The "certain way" to which he referred is the corporate underwriting of national public TV programs, which he said totalled about $5 million this season, slightly above last season's corporate effort.

A corporation isn't allowed to advertise on public TV.

But when it helps underwrite PBS shows, the aid is noted in a brief announcement at the start and end of the program. It usually says "this program was made possible in part by" the corporation helping pick up the tab.

Major underwriters this year have included Exxon, Mobil, Eastman Kodak, IBM, Xerox, Bristol-Myers, 3-M, General Telephone and McDonalds. They helped pay for shows ranging from "Zoom" to "Theater in the Air."

America."

The underwriting, done to help build the company's public image, is a relatively small slice of the $35 million spent last year on national public TV shows, said Chamberlin, noting that most of the money came from foundations and federal sources.

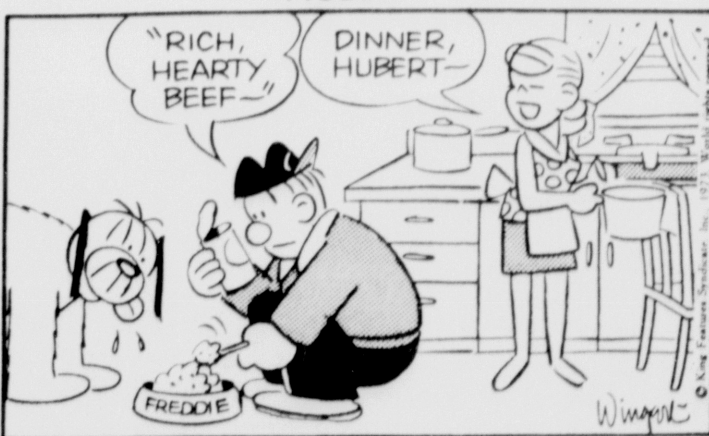

"But it's significant to us because any amount is small when you look at the over-all funding of public television throughout the country," he said. "It cost us about $180 million over-all last season to keep this system running."

Chamberlin, who deals with the corporations in trying to develop private support for national public TV programming, doubted the possible economic slowdown next year will force them to reduce their financial support in the 1974-75 season.

"I don't think there's going to be any cutbacks, as far as I can see," he said. "Our objective is going to be to interest new corporations, not just rely on the 15 or so corporations which so far have been the basic (business) support of national programming in public television."

However, he added, "I think if anything it may be a little harder to interest new companies into coming into public television next year. It may be more difficult to bring new companies into the fold."

Probe Cause Of Corona Stabbing

VACAVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Prison officials say arguments between Juan Corona and other inmates may have been responsible for the knifing attack in which he was seriously injured.

The 40-year-old former farm labor contractor who was convicted of the mass murder of 25 transient farm workers remained in serious condition today. Surgeons have removed one eye and treated 32 stab wounds on his head and body.

"At this time, it appears the motive for the assault was not connected with inmate gang activity.... There's nothing to indicate it was about the crime" for which Corona was sent to prison, T.L. Clanton, superintendent of the California Medical Facility at Vacaville, said Monday.

Clanton told newsmen that before Corona was found bleeding in his unlocked cell late Saturday night prison officials had no indication of any hostility between Corona and other inmates at the hospital prison complex 50 miles northeast of San Francisco.

But Clanton said that since then he has learned "there were some heated exchanges between Mr. Corona and some other inmates in the past couple of weeks."

He declined to say what the arguments were about, where they took place in the prison or which other inmates were involved.

But he said they are linked to some of the four unidentified inmates being held for questioning in the knifing.

by the Nutrena Feeds division of Cargill Inc.

In classes at the company's 820-acre Elk River, Minn. research farm, Davis and his classmates studied the latest farrow-to-finish developments in successful swine management. After thorough classroom sessions on proper management for breeding, growing, feeding, farrowing, finishing and herd health, the students went outside on the 820-acre "campus" to observe and practice the techniques discussed.

The purpose of the school was to enable owner-operators or managers of Cargill Pork Systems to get maximum results from their systems. Those attending learned how the Elk River staff developed the system during a 15-year period of extensive research on practical, profitable quality pork production. Instructors for the school were Dick Gosen, swine products manager; Dr. Francis Wingert, director of swine research; Les Cottrill, special projects manager; and Norm Leslie, swine management specialist.

Gosen explained the concept behind the company's pork production recommendations. "Contrary to traditional management practices, our research indicates that hogs, just like their owners, are healthier and happier in a clean environment. Our system gets the hogs out of the mud, and onto easily cleaned, relatively bacteria-free outdoor concrete growing and finishing floors. All management recommendations we make are carefully researched for suitability to our system before they are made."

Pork system plans and management advice are available free of charge to Nutrena Feeds customers interested in expanding and improving their pork production capabilities.

Court Order Review Set

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court will consider Ohio's challenge of a court order which freed a convicted murderer on grounds his car was seized illegally as evidence.

The high court announced Monday it will review the decision of the U.S. Circuit Court in Cincinnati which ordered Arthur Ben Lewis of Delaware, Ohio, released on a writ of habeas corpus.

Lewis was convicted in 1968 and sentenced to life imprisonment. Evidence at the trial included paint scrapings from Lewis' car which matched paint on the victim's car.

The Circuit Court said last April that law enforcement officials erred when they seized the car without a warrant. Ohio Atty. Gen. Bill Brown has argued no warrant was needed. Law officers seized the car because they feared Lewis or friends would dispose of it, Brown said.
